

The Athens Post.

BY SAM. P. IVINS.

ATHENS, TENN., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1860.

VOL. XIII--NO. 628.

TERMS:
THE POST IS PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY,
Two Dollars a Year, Payable in Advance.

No attention paid to orders for the paper unless accompanied by the cash.

Advertisements will be charged $1 per square for the first insertion, and 50 cents for each subsequent insertion. A liberal discount made to those who advertise by the year.

Persons sending advertisements must mark the number of times they desire them inserted, or they will be continued until ordered and charged accordingly.

For announcing the names of candidates for office, $5, cash.

Obituary notices over 12 lines, charged at regular advertising rates.

All communications intended to promote the private interests of individuals, or of corporations, societies, schools or individuals, will be charged as advertisements.

Joe Wink, such as Pamphlets, Minutes, Circulars, Cards, Handbills, &c., will be executed in good style and on reasonable terms.

All letters addressed to the Proprietor, will be promptly attended to.

No communications inserted unless accompanied by the name of the author.

The Post.

Athens, Friday, October 5, 1860.

NATIONAL UNION MASS MEETING.

At Memphis, Tenn.

The friends of BELL and EVERETT will hold a grand National Union Mass Meeting in the city of Memphis, Tenn., commencing on Monday, the 24th of October, and continuing during the week.

The object of the meeting will be to demonstrate to the world the great interests involved in the present contest.

All friends of the Union, and of the Constitution, are cordially invited to be present, as ample arrangements will be made for their accommodation.

Arrangements will also be effected with all the railroads leading to Memphis, by which persons will be conveyed to and from the city at a great reduction of fare.

By order, COMMITTEE OF INVITATION: Memphis, September 7, 1860.

Public Speaking.

BALLIE DAVISON, LAMSON C. HAYES and W. H. POLK, Electors for the State at Large, have published a list of appointments, commencing at Winchester on the 20th August, and ending at Chattanooga the 24th of November. We subjoin the appointments for East Tennessee:

Kingston, Roane county, Friday, October 12	12
Clinton, Anderson county, Saturday, " 13	13
Johnson, Campbell county, Sunday, " 14	14
Tazewell, Claiborne county, Wednesday, " 15	15
Bean's Station, Grainger co., Thursday, " 16	16
Rogersville, Hawkins county, Friday, " 17	17
Kingsport, Sullivan county, Saturday, " 18	18
Blountville, do do, Monday, " 20	20
Johnson, Washington co., Tuesday, " 21	21
Greeneville, Greene county, Wednesday, " 22	22
Newport, Cock county, Thursday, " 23	23
Dandridge, Jefferson county, Friday, " 24	24
Knoxville, Knox county, Saturday, " 25	25
Maryville, Blount county, Sunday, " 26	26
Madisonville, Monroe county, Tuesday, " 27	27
Athens, Meigs county, Wednesday, " 28	28
Cleveland, Bradley county, Thursday, " 29	29
Chattanooga, Hamilton co., Friday, " 30	30

Public Speaking.

THOMAS COOPER, ex-member.

The undersigned will address the people of the Third Congressional District at the following times and places, beginning exactly at eleven o'clock, A. M., each day, viz:

Knox, Tenn., Tuesday, Oct. 3	3
Maryville, " Wednesday, " 4	4
Morgan, " Thursday, " 5	5
Mouse Creek, Meigs, " Friday, " 6	6
Philadelph, Monroe, " Saturday, " 7	7
Loudon, Roane, " Sunday, " 8	8
Kingston, " Monday, " 9	9

INDICATIONS OF THE RESULT IN NOVEMBER.

A vote taken in the work shops of M. & W. P. R. yesterday resulted as follows:

Bell and Everett	32
Breckinridge and Lane	8
Douglas and Johnson	8

A vote on the M. & W. P. train yesterday stood:

Bell and Everett	23
Breckinridge and Lane	18
Douglas and Johnson	4

(Montgomery Post, 20th.)

From Bangor to New Orleans there is now a continuous chain of railroads, composed of eighteen independent roads, costing in the aggregate, for 2,344 miles of road, $50,264,084, or nearly one-tenth of the total railway system in the United States.

The "National Intelligencer" quotes, as suggestive at this time, the Pledge signed by Henry Clay, and prominent members of both parties, Whigs and Democrats, in 1850, agreeing not to support any one who would thereafter disturb the compromise measures—and also the resolutions of the Democratic and Whig Convention in 1852; alike opposed to the renewal of the slavery agitation, or interfering in any way with the aforesaid compromise measures. It was in 1850 that Henry Clay predicted that, if the slavery agitation continued, it would lead to "the formation of two new parties—one for the Union and the other against the Union—and the platform of the Union party would be—the Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws."

The Savannah Republican reports that Senator Toombs made a furious speech in that city on Friday night last, which was condemned by men of all parties. He was particularly severe on the Irish, and said: "As for Pat, I never asked you to vote for me; you go for Douglas, go on."

SEXIST TALK.—The Nashville Patriot has the following:

"What's the use," said a life long Democrat to one of our citizens Saturday, "for me to vote for either Breckinridge or Douglas? Neither of them can be elected, and in such a crisis as the present, I wish my vote, when I cast it, to have some weight in the scale of the Union. I have therefore determined to support Bell and Everett. If my party were united and harmonious, they might effect something, and I would stand by them. But how split into two sections, each bitter and unrelenting in its hatred of the other, nothing is left to encourage me—nothing to give me a reasonable hope of success—and I must, for the campaign, ally myself with those who may succeed."

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A dispatch to the "World" says the Government has ordered 17,000 stand of arms to Fort Moultrie.

Our Platform.

The Platform adopted by the Constitutional Union party at Baltimore, says the Frankfort (Ky.) Commonwealth, is no new one. As much as the Yancey party affect to ridicule and throw contemptuous sneers upon it, as a "meaningless generality," it was unquestionably used by the immortal Henry Clay, when with his latest breath he made his grand effort to give peace to a distracted country.

In his memorable speech before the Kentucky Legislature in 1850, occurs this passage:

"I may be asked, as I have been asked, when I would consent to a dissolution of the Union. I answer, never! never! never! If the agitation in regard to the fugitive slave law should continue and increase, and become alarming, it will lead to the formation of two new parties, one for the Union, and the other against the Union; and the platform of that Union party will be the Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws. And if it should be necessary to form such a party, and it should accordingly be formed, I announce myself in this place a member of that party, whatever may be its composition elements."

To use the language of a contemporary, the time so eloquently and graphically predicted has arrived. That Union party is now organized. It appeals to the countrymen of Washington and Clay for their support. It entreats them to gather in serried phalanx around the Union and the Constitution, and defend them from the fierce assaults of sectionalism whenever they may come; and by the election of our national and patriotic candidates, to preserve to our sons the glorious heritage bequeathed us by our sires, so that it shall remain the boast of American citizens that they have "one country, one Constitution, and one destiny."

Politics in Florida.

GREENWOOD, Fla., Sept. 11, 1860.

Mr. Editor:—I attended a Breckinridge and Lane meeting and barbecue on yesterday at Greenwood, at which they expected a large attendance of their party, but, as it was put on my oath, as which had the largest number of voters, the Breckinridge or Bell party, I should have to give my verdict in favor of the Bell party, as I think they had a right smart majority over the Democratic party; and, as I have been the case at every meeting of the Democratic party that I have attended, and I have attended nearly every one in the county, and those that I have not attended I have heard from. I will wind up by saying, that man must be less than a patriot who can contemplate with indifference, the present condition of political affairs in the United States, and in the face of it all vote against Messrs. Bell and Everett when all the chances are in their favor. A BELL AND EVERETT VOTER.

NO PROSPECT FOR BRECKINRIDGE.—While the papers in the service of the pet party are trying to convince the public that Breckinridge is the only candidate that stands a chance of being elected, apart from Lincoln, we could command them to the sentiments of the well-informed leaders of their party. Col. Orr, of South Carolina, in a recent letter, says:

"While I shall vote for Breckinridge and Lane, the nominees of the Baltimore convention—gentlemen of tried patriotism and sound principles—a hearty and cordial support, I see no prospects of their election, either by the people or otherwise."

Why, then, does he give to Breckinridge his support, unless it is to aid in electing Lincoln?

A DEGRADING SPECTACLE.—The following dispatch, which, under the present infamous Administration, is an every day occurrence, was telegraphed to New York a day or two ago:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.

"Our quiet city is invaded by a delegation of the New York Breckinridge leaders, headed by Gideon J. Tucker and John A. Green, and other managing friends of the Seceaders' ticket. They are here in consultation with the President. Mr. Schell, who was here some time ago for a similar purpose, has not succeeded in getting the President's consent to unconditional fusion with the Douglas men."

A sickening sight in this boasted land of liberty, to see a sovereign people cringing up to the President, a creature which they themselves have made, and humbly beseeching his consent to vote as their slaves dictate. It is a political paganism worse than Hindu idolatry, and it is crying things which perform such pilgrimages to Washington should receive the scorn of scorn from every human being.

"To, for a while in every honest hand."

To lash the scoundrel naked in the world's eye. (Richmond Whig.)

MASSACHUSETTS.—The Boston Journal (Abolition) says:

"Mr. Beach (the Democratic candidate for Governor) has it is understood, written a letter to the Douglas State Committee advising fusion with the Bell-Everett, and proposing to withdraw from the canvass if any trade can be made."

The only sensible thing to be done in Massachusetts is to run one ticket, and that one against the Abolitionists there.

COL. RUDLER.—Very little seems to be known of Col. Rudler, who was shot with Walker in Honduras. He was a native of Alabama, and served with credit in the Mexican War as an officer of the Louisiana Regiment. In 1849 he went to California, and was at that time Deputy-Marshal of the City of Stockton. He was an active Whig during the Presidential canvass of 1852, and was nominated by the party for the office of Sheriff of San Joaquin county in 1854, but was defeated. In 1855 he was elected to the Legislature, and joined Walker in Nicaragua. He had a profound regard and esteem for Walker, and has shared in all his expeditions, and finally participated in his fate. He was regarded as a brave, honorable and generous gentleman, and enjoyed the respect of all who knew him.

Four Breckinridge Electors in North Carolina have declined. Three of them (Haywood, Keen and Bouldin) have declared for Douglas, and one (H. W. Miller) for Bell.

A Provisional Government for the Southern States.

[From the New Orleans Bulletin.]

Start not reader, when we tell you that a plan for a Provisional Government of the Southern States has actually been sketched out and extensively circulated.

We returned to this fact last week in our review of Mr. Breckinridge's speech, and we give this morning the document itself in full. There are very few, comparatively speaking, of the patriotic masses of the South, the planters, merchants, mechanics, etc., who are fully aware to what lengths the treasonable fanaticism of restless spirits has reached. Fanaticism in the South has almost kept pace with fanaticism in the North, and it was high time when this great Constitutional, conservative movement was inaugurated, that the sober and reliable men of every portion of the country who revere the institutions left them by their great patriotic sires, had risen in their might and laid their right hands upon this incendiary and devilish spirit of lawless destruction—a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

It is a spirit that tramples alike upon the laws of God and men, and in its blind and infuriated recklessness would turn this peaceful land of ours, this priceless patrimony that has been bequeathed to its posterity, into a scene of lawless anarchy and bloodshed.

Preparations for Disunion in South Carolina.

From the Columbia South Carolinian.

The county conventions shall be composed of delegates from the several county clubs, which shall have a chairman, secretary, and